Dedication

We, the senior class of 1982, do hereby dedicate this yearbook to the eternal memory of Matthew Michael Bahre. Matt's sudden and unexpected passing at the age of seventeen left the students and faculty of Prep South feeling an exspansive range of mixed emotions: anger, sorrow, guilt, remorse. Somehow, we all came to a greater realization of death: its suddenness, its sorrow, but most importantly, the joy that it brings. The joy of death is that it does not end a life, but rather gives that life immortality. It is our passageway to eternal life. Therefore, we find consolation in our grief since we know now that Matt is living the eternal life which was promised him in his baptism in Christ.

"O harmless death! whom still the valiant brave,

The wise expect, the sorrowful invite,

And all the good embrace, who know the grave

A short, dark passage to eternal light."

Sir William Davenant

ACTIVITIES

OUR 25TH ANNIVERSARY

Prep South had its beginnings in the 1950's that saw many students flocking to the seminary system. Because of the number of students, the old six-six system was changed to the present four-four-four system. Cardinal Ritter, the Archbishop of St. Louis, gave permission to construct a high school building. This building, now Prep South, opened its doors in September, 1957. During the 60's the enrollment increased to ober 500. Then Prep North was built and in the 70's the number of students began to drop drastically for many reasons. However, this year Prep South is expecting a dramatic increase of freshmen - seventy-five. So in its 25th anniversary year Prep South is looking forward to a continued growth in the number of students for another 25 years.

Wave Of The Future

There is a financial revolution taking place in Missouri and the nation. It is a revolution which will see credit unions playing an increasingly significant role in meeting all the financial needs of their members. It is a dedication to the principle that people are what count.

There was a time when credit unions were looked upon as small, rainy-day operations. Members could get low-cost loans and a good return on their savings, but for the most part, services were limited to what the volunteers could do. The emphasis was on people helping people.

Today many credit unions are larger, total service financial institutions offering savings certificates, share drafts, mortgage loans and a wide variety of other services. In the past ten years credit unions have grown faster than any other financial institution. And Yet, despite the growth and expansion in services one thing has remained the same the emphasis is still on people helping people.

The next ten years are going to see sweeping changes in the financial institution of Missouri and the nation. There is going to be a change in the perception of financial institutions with the end result being that the real beneficiary will be the consumer, the public.

The emphasis on people and personal service lead many to believe that the credit union will be the financial institution of the future.

We, the members of the freshmen class, wish to thank the faculty and the upperclassmen for their encouragement and support throughout our first year at Prep South. The concern which they have shown toward us has given us an incentive to work hard in our studies and achieve not only a personal growth but a spiritual one as well.
